

OCEAN POWDER COATING, Inc. is a Florida based CleanTech provider of portable powder coating solutions for marine and other industrial applications.

- We have a revolutionary portable plastic powder spraying system ready for delivery. The completely portable OPC® system weighs just 70 pounds and consists of a control console, spray gun, hoses and powder feeder. The spray gun deposits a mixture of plastics, paints, plastic additives, and Thermal Plastics for a variety of applications. In addition, OPC's engineers have developed a line of specially engineered plastic materials. With these materials, end-users can efficiently and economically deliver products that prolong the life of structured materials exposed to the elements of nature.
- The Company's design and coatings engineers hold more than two dozen patents between them and have decades of experience in the coating industry. The company's founders and officers have more than 30 years' experience in the industry. With their expertise, a unique product and more on the drawing board, the Company is poised to be a leader in the coatings industry and change commercial painting as we know it today eliminating all volatile organic compounds (VOC's) and providing a totally GREEN product to its end users.
- Ocean Powder Coating products are 100% safe for the environment and 100% "Green".
- They are approved by the EPA Environmental Protection Agency, United States Department of Agriculture and the Food and Drug Administration USA.

Although widely considered as the most durable and cost effective coating method currently available, powder coating does however have two notable limitations. Because traditional powder coating involves applying the powder through the process of electrostatic attraction followed by thermal curing in a hot oven, it has up to this point been limited to object size and material type. "You cannot bake an Aircraft Carrier in an oven."

Now Ocean Powder Coating has taken the Number One finishing technique out of the Oven and into the hands of Global Industry.
